

SARA HOLDREN DIRECTOR | TEACHER | WRITER

swholdren@gmail.com | www.saraholdren.com

I am a director, teacher, and writer originally from the Blue Ridge foothills of Virginia. I like to make big plays – expansive stories characterized by a collaborative company ethos, striking visual worlds, physical and verbal dexterity, a sense of humor and of the otherworldly. I am also the winner of the 2016–17 George Jean Nathan Award for Dramatic Criticism, and from 2017 to 2019 I served as the theater critic for New York Magazine and Vulture.com. My work reflects an enduring love of classical texts combined with a deep interest in adaptation and ensemble-driven theater. As a director and a theater educator, I strive for intellectual rigor, physical and emotional courage, and generous creativity – working from a place of informed irreverence and fostering a spirit of joy, experimentation, collaboration, and play.

TEACHING

The New School Graduate Acting Program (NYC) – Taught acting based in the late-Stanislavsky improvisatory technique of Analysis Through Action.

Primary Stages, Einhorn School of Performing Arts (NYC) – Taught Analysis Through Action for actors, as well as courses for directors in working creatively with Chekhov and Shakespeare. Worked with students college-aged and up.

Shakespeare Academy @ Stratford (Stratford, CT) – While leading SA@S as AD, I taught courses in Shakespeare's Text and and physical ensemble theater.

Two River Theater (Red Bank, NJ) – My directing work with the high school students of Two River's A Little Shakespeare program involved teaching/actor training; and, at Two River, I have also led workshops for adults in Adaptation, Text Analysis, and Directorial Approaches to Shakespeare.

American Shakespeare Center (Staunton, VA) – Adapted and directed Romeo & Juliet for an ensemble of young actors and led physical theater workshops.

Live Arts (Charlottesville, VA) – Adapted and directed Twelfth Night for young actors and led classes in Shakespeare's text and physical theater.

- I have also been invited to discuss theater and theater criticism in classes and panels at Yale, Columbia, New York University, and Cornell, as well as at the Shakespeare Theatre Company in Washington, D.C., Theatre Cedar Rapids, Epic Theatre Company, and conferences with the American Theatre Critics Association and the National Alliance for Musical Theatre.

ARTISTIC LEADERSHIP

ARTISTIC DIRECTOR – Shakespeare Academy @ Stratford, Stratford, CT

- In 2019–2020, I served as the AD of this 6-week-long residential summer intensive in Shakespeare and ensemble training for college-age actors. I developed the curriculum, headed the faculty and staff, taught daily classes, directed in the 2-play repertory season, and—in 2020—re-envisioned the program for an online approach.

ARTISTIC DIRECTOR & CO-FOUNDER – Tiltyard, NYC

- In the summer of 2016 I co-founded Tiltyard, a Brooklyn-based theater company devoted to reimagining classic texts.

ARTISTIC DIRECTOR – Yale Summer Cabaret, New Haven, CT

- In the summer of 2015 I served as Artistic Director of the Yale Summer Cabaret, an independent, student-run non-profit theater with a 40-year history where I and my collaborators programmed and produced a full summer season of plays and special events.
